An Agenda for American Strength

By: Suzanne P. Clark | U.S. Chamber of Commerce

For a long time, the U.S. Chamber has said that “Business is the one thing that really works in this country.” We say it as a point of pride, and we’re not the only ones who feel that way. According to the latest Edelman Trust Barometer, 62% of respondents from 27 countries said they trust business above other institutions. When compared with nonprofits, government, and the media, business was the only institution seen as competent and ethical. Here in the U.S., there’s a 13-point trust gap between business and government.

Illinois Non-Compete & Non-Solicitation Agreements: Latest Legal Developments

Thursday, May 4, 2023

10:30 am - 12:00 pm | Webinar

Hiring a competitor's employee and being threatened by a new hire's former employer can be challenging. There are many myths and misconceptions tied to employee non-compete and non-solicitation agreements. Additionally, many employers (and employees) lose sight of significant risks related to trade secrets and confidentiality obligations.

In this webinar, Jeff Glass from the law firm of Amundsen Davis LLC will identify the risks and issues that Illinois employers face, and provide up to date, common sense advice for limiting the risk and protecting your company from the perspective of the hiring employer. Attorney Glass will also address what can be deemed an effective and lawful restrictive covenant under IL law, and what employers should know concerning their own workforce.
