

#1 CLOUD SOFTWARE PROVIDER FOR THE CONCRETE INDUSTRY

Unifying Concrete Dispatch and Batch Creates Unprecedented Value for Concrete Producers

We know that data drives decisions and impacts the way we run our Ready Mix operations. We sat down with our own Jason Pulliam to discuss the operational and business benefits of merging Dispatch and Batch into a single unified database to improve decision making and increase profits.

What are the implications? How will this affect Ready Mix producers who are looking at ways of getting ahead after the COVID-19 pandemic and create a competitive edge in their markets. Click below

"From a technical standpoint, the question of interfaces vs integration, it is a constant battle in current environments to reconcile between the two, with cloud batch there is only one source of truth" - Jason Pulliam, 28 year veteran in the concrete industry

Dispatch and Batch should not be viewed as separate entities. Whether we realize it or not, they are all connected. Breaking down barriers related to people, process, and technology has to occur so we can ultimately deliver a better product and customer experience.
